

Congratulations to Nanchong Fashion Foundation Manufacturing Ltd. for Obtaining ISO 50001

Updated in April 2019

WE CARE FOR ENERGY SAVING AND EMISSION REDUCTION !

At the beginning of April 2019, Nanchong Fashion Foundation Manufacturing Ltd. successfully passed the audit of SGS-CSTC Standards Technical Services Co. Ltd. and obtained the certificate of ISO 50001:2011 Energy Management System.

Energy saving and emission reduction are important issues in contemporary society. The sense of social responsibility is the mission that PFGHL never forgets. For a long time, PFGHL has always taken green production and sustainable development as important principles for formulating strategies and developing technologies and set an example in sustainable development for other enterprises.

ISO 50001 is an energy management system developed by ISO/PC 242 Energy Management Committee of ISO (International Standards Organization). It aims to improve companies' profitability and reduce greenhouse gas emissions to realize energy saving target. According to the standards of ISO 50001 system, Nanchong Factory further standardizes energy use standards and upgrades its concepts and actions to realize cyclic economy.

The successful passing of ISO 50001 certification is Nanchong Factory's milestone in green production. This honor embodies the recognition of us and is also a kind of expectation and stimulation. All employees of Nanchong Factory will continue to strictly control all aspects of production and provide high-quality and low-energy consumption products for domestic and foreign customers!
